

Za dobre duše in radovedne želodce.

Welcome to Gostilna Repovž, a place for good souls and curious stomachs. We have a desire to ensure our guests experience only the best and that, through all the senses, they can sense our passion for what we do.

The food that we prepare is distinctly local and traditional. Through the best ingredients, we want to introduce you to authentic Dolenjska and Posavje cuisine. The large majority of these ingredients come from our farm or from nearby suppliers. You will rarely find an ingredient that hasn't come from the immediate surroundings. All our suppliers are smallholders, who we can call 'our friends', therefore we know every detail of their work, quality and endeavours.

The building you are in has been our family house for centuries. It's even older than the Church of St. John the Baptist, which you will have seen before you entered the building. Our family has been involved in catering activities here for over 300 years. When we carried out the latest renovation to the building we wanted to maintain the spirit of the past, which we achieved by connecting it into a functional and modern form. The majority of the work, including the smallest details, we did with the help of local tradespeople and authentic materials.

Through your visit to us today, you will also be able to experience first-hand the countless small objects, plates, napkins and other small details, the majority of which are the work of small-scale Slovenian tradespeople and artists.

The entire team that is taking care of you consists of members of the Repovž family and long-term collaborators, the majority of whom are from our village of Sentjanž. Every individual is a real expert in their
